Present: Nolan Calara, Kushal Sheshadri, Sai Charan Attili, Erick Lored, Carlos20 pedo,

social media, and Google Sheets. She encouraged everyone to share it once available. In addition, Sai Charan graciously offered to DJ for a part of the event. S. Attili proposed playing house music during the event to attract a larger crowd. H. Corum expressed gratitude for the opportunity to incorporate house music into the event, and highlighted there is no budget for the event. She then invited questions from the board. N. Calara expressed genuine excitement for the upcoming event and suggested involving our esteemed advisors, including My-Lan, to encourage resident participation, and Steve to engage athletes and other advisors for their respective areas of influence. H. Corum affirmed plans to reach out to the Board Members for further promotion and dissemination of additional event details. G. Felix inquired about alternative methods for promoting the event beyond the distribution of flyers. H. Corum addressed the question by highlighting current promotional efforts, including collaboration with TAGS and distribution of flyers in the store. She welcomed additional suggestions for promoting the event beyond flyer distribution and outreach to departments. G. Felix suggested collaborating with Carlos to create engaging videos or eye-catching posts aimed at capturing the attention of our student body. She acknowledged the additional effort required for such initiatives but emphasized their potential impact. H. Corum expressed enthusiasm for creating a video targeting our age group while acknowledging a need for ideas. She encouraged anyone willing to take the lead on this initiative to step forward. D. Lopez proposed leveraging TikTok for advertising purposes, suggesting the inclusion of models. Additionally, he suggested creating a brief promotional video announcing the upcoming Second Hand Slays event in collaboration with Stacy. H. Corum expressed approval and enthusiasm for the proposed idea. Motion to approve Second Hand Slays by 13 YES, 0 NO, 0 ABSTAIN, motion CARRIED.

B. ACTION ITEM: Pastries with the Presidents

The ASI Board of Directors will be taking action on the Pastries with the Presidents event. Motion to approve $300 from the Special Food Hospitality Budget for Pastries with the Presidents by N. Calara for advertising purposes, with plans to involve Carlos in the promotion. He invited questions from the board.

Motion to approve $300 from the Special Food Hospitality Budget to the students. He mentioned compiling a list of questions in a document and plans to send it to President Sandeen to ensure that the website addresses East Bay-specific inquiries. G. Felix suggested the possibility of reaching out to students to gather their opinions and questions regarding the tuition increase. She emphasized the importance of considering fresher perspectives, as many students are just learning about the tuition increase. N. Calara proposed collaborating with Carlos to create advertisements and a Google form to gather specific questions from students regarding the tuition increase. He highlighted the Pastries with the President's event as an opportunity to encourage students to ask questions in person.

and requested access to the index to demonstrate the numbers from last fall, with ASI. Dr. E. Saman clarified that the index requested was not immediately available. He explained that the index comprises a list of numerical codes representing various objects and their original locations, primarily in Alameda County. The objects are often associated with Caltrans projects involving road construction. He emphasized that sharing the index would not yield significant meaning to the attendees as it primarily consists of technical codes and locations. H. Corum requested the names of the staff members that have been identified for the NAGPRA committee. Dr. E. Salmon mentioned that the staff members identified for the NAGPRA committee includes our new American Indian Studies professor, Dr. Michael Lerma, University Diversity Officer Kathleen Wong Lau, and Dr. Albert Gonzalez from the AGES. For indigenous members, he has approached Monica Adriano from the Muwekma Ohlone, and while she expressed interest, she still needs to complete paperwork. Additionally, Veronica Martinez from Chabot College, who is Rumsen Ohlone, has expressed interest already returned her paperwork. He is yet to identify the other two eventual council members. N. Calara raised the question of whether a student representative could be included on the committee. Dr. E. Salmon clarified that there is no specific requirement from the CSU system regarding the inclusion of students on the NAGPRA Council. N. Calara raised the question of whether ASI could be involved in the NAGPRA committee, even though it's not a requirement for students to be part of it. Dr. E. Salmon acknowledged the absence of any prohibitive language regarding student observers on the NAGPRA committee, expressing openness to exploring the possibility further. Having participated in CSU NAGPRA task force meetings, He noted that student involvement hadn't been raised previously but sees no inherent issue with it. He is committed to investigating the matter further and updating the board once more information is available, citing that no meeting date has been set for the committee yet. N. Calara sought clarification on the CalNAGPRA audit's accuracy, stating that President Sandeen and the administration had indicated discrepancies. He requested perspectives on whether the audit accurately reflected Cal State East Bay's situation. Dr. E. Salmon clarified that the CalNAGPRA audit wasn't inaccurate per se, but rather there were instances of miscommunication. Marjorie, coordinator at the museum, worked with Dr. Gonzalez on the inventory, and grouped various items together, such as shards from arrowhead or spear point making, as the same type of object. However, this grouping didn't accurately represent the diverse materials held on campus. There was a misunderstanding regarding the classification of certain objects, leading to discrepancies in the audit findings. N. Calara mentioned that he and Guadalupe, the Director of Legislative Affairs, along with President Sandeen, will be meeting with multiple assembly members and legislators in Sacramento. Among the topics for discussion will be CalNAGPRA. He noted that they were informed about potential inaccuracies in the CalNAGPRA audit but will investigate further. He stated that there are no concerns about returning items for East Bay, but they are awaiting acceptance by the tribes. He sought input on any additional information or perspectives they should be aware of before meeting with legislators to discuss CalNAGPRA. Dr. E. Salmon highlighted the significance of the Ohlone tribe being federally recognized and the barriers they face in repatriating materials due to capacity and resources. He expressed concern about the possibility of the materials being stored inadequately if returned without proper support. He emphasized the need for tribes like the Muwekma Ohlone to have federal funding to develop the capacity to receive and care for their ancestor's materials appropriately. He suggested that even a part-time position with the tribe could be crucial for this purpose.

C. DISCUSSION ITEM: March Madness \(Concord\)

The ASI Board of Directors will be discussing March Madness (Concord).

S. Basi presented an overview of the March Madness event discussed during the retreat, highlighting last year's successful collaboration with UPD on the Concord campus. The event featured a basketball tournament using one of the arcade games, allowing students to participate in an open tournament format. This year, the event will be held in collaboration with the new CSO's on campus, aims to foster student engagement and awareness of campus safety. Prizes for the event, including leftover goodies from the ASI storage room at the Concord Center and items such as stickers, keychains, and ASI portable chargers, will be available without the need for additional budget allocation. She also mentioned H.O.P.E. Pantry's contribution of snacks for the event. G. Felix inquired if there is a flyer for the event, expressing its absence online. S. Basi confirmed the absence of a flyer, stating that one has not been created yet. N. Calara requested that the flyer be emailed to the board once it is ready.

D. DISCUSSION ITEM: ASI Committee Codes

The ASI Board of Directors will be discussing the ASI Committee Codes.

K. Sheshadri outlined two proposed changes to the committee codes during the meeting. Firstly, he suggested to remove the Internal Affairs C suggestions, as the item may be moved to the action item in the subsequent meeting based on the feedback received. G. Felix inquired about the rationale and considerations that led to these suggestions. N. Calara provided insights into the rationale behind the decision to reconsider the Internal Affairs Committee. He highlighted that the committee was previously under the VP of Communications but was removed to allow Directors to focus on their designated areas like Sustainability, Programming. Additionally, the decision aimed to create a designated space for mentees under Carlos. He emphasized that mentees are actively involved in organizing events typically managed by the Internal Affairs Committee, thereby eliminating the need for a separate Internal Affairs Committee. C. Martinez-Aguilera sought clarification regarding the decision-making process behind the proposed changes, specifically inquiring about the individuals involved in making such decisions. K. Sheshadri clarified that no final decisions have been made regarding the proposed changes. The proposal is open for discussion, and all Board Members are encouraged to review the document. He stated that if there is a consensus among the Board Members that the Internal Affairs Committee is necessary, it can still be retained. The matter remains open for discussion. N. Calara clarified that the proposed changes were discussed by the members of the Executive team last year, including himself, Kushal, and James. Additionally, discussions on the Committee Codes took place over the summer. He emphasized that the decision-making process is not exclusive to the Executive Board, and all members are invited to participate. Therefore, the item is presented as a discussion topic during the board meeting before any approval is sought. G. Felix inquired about the potential changes to the requirements for committee members following the merger of Lobby Corps and the Legislative Affairs Committee. She sought clarification on whether the requirements would remain the same or if there would be any adjustments. K. Sheshadri mentioned the plan to increase the number of committee members by one or two, indicating that this would be the only change. N. Calara stated rationale behind merging the two committees stems from observations made during last year's Legislative Affairs efforts, notably by Jilian, who identified significant overlap between the functions of both committees. He mentioned that by combining them, members will still engage in similar tasks with minor additions to their responsibilities, while maintaining the overarching purpose and advocacy efforts intact. G. Felix acknowledged the reasoning behind the decision, as they essentially consolidate similar functions.

VIII. SPECIAL REPORTS

A. Academic Senate Report

E. Quineri provided updates from the Academic Senate meeting, beginning with information on the recent power outage. Faculty expressed concerns about communication during emergencies, and the administration is committed to improving communication for such situations. He mentioned that the discussion then shifted to 23-24 FAC 7 academic workday definitions for winter and summer intersessions. Due to challenges in transitioning from a quarterly to a semester system, there was a need to clarify terms like academic day, lecture day, and duty day. Additionally, resolutions related to the Israeli and Palestinian situation were discussed, with differing opinions leading to a decision to rewrite and address both perspectives. He noted that due to time constraints, event announcements were postponed, allowing the Academic Senate to focus on critical agenda items. N. Calara commended Elijah and Charan for their commendable efforts in maintaining productivity despite the absence of two senators. He encouraged them to continue their diligent work.

IX. ROUND TABLE REMARKS

G. Felix wished the Board Happy Valentine's Day.

H. Corum provided an update on the food waste reduction resolution, stating that discussions with Jennifer revealed the practice of utilizing compostable bio plastic containers for leftover food from various campus food outlets, excluding the Pioneer Dining Commons. The surplus food is redirected to the food pantry, facilitating waste reduction efforts. She aims to gather similar information

N. Calara informed the Board that he and Lupe will be in Sacramento on Tuesday evening and all-day Wednesday, meeting with legislators including Assembly members Timothy Grayson, Aisha Wahab, Rebecca Bauer-Kahan, Steve Glazer, and Nancy Skinner. Topics of discussion include CalNAGPRA, Title IX, infrastructure bond, and GI 2025. He will provide updates on these matters in the next meeting. Additionally, he shared that former ASI alumni, Tony Foster, is hosting a hiking and picnic event at Turtle Creek picnic area in Lake Chabot Regional Park on Monday, February 19th. He will send an email with more details, and he encourages everyone to join if possible. A. Depappa highlighted the upcoming event as a valuable opportunity to connect with ASI alumni. It presents a chance to delve into the history of ASI and gain insights into its evolution over time. She expressed that engaging with alumni offers a unique perspective and the chance to meet fascinating individuals.

C. Chin-Newman raised concerns regarding the Faculty Affairs Committee's discussion on class cancellations and the need for improved communication protocols during emergency situations. She also highlighted the discontinuation of the hotspot program and encouraged feedback on student needs in this regard. She further invited members to share any additional feedback or suggestions for enhancing communication and support for students and faculty during similar events in the future. G. Felix mentioned that there was a message indicating that the campus now has power. C. Chin-Newman highlighted that while there were general messages regarding the restoration of power, some inaccuracies were noted. Faculty members expressed the need for more specific communication, particularly from higher-level administrators like the Provost or President. Despite the general assurance of safety and basic needs being met, there were concerns about the functionality of research facilities and Wi-Fi in housing, affecting the ability of students to attend classes remotely. Clarification on these issues could have prevented disruptions in academic activities. A. Depappa mentioned that they received an email stating that classes would resume in person. She offered to share the email later for verification.

D. Lopez announced that the next Board of Directors meeting, scheduled for February 28th, will take place at the Concord campus. He encouraged attendance in person, emphasizing the importance of a strong presence for a mini event. The event aims to introduce the Concord campus to the board members, fostering better acquaintance beyond the regular interactions.

N. Calara provided an update on the University Safety Walk, mentioning that plans are underway for the Concord Safety Walk event. He invited board members interested in joining him and Sharn to let him know their availability.

T. Buttchen commended Elijah and Nolan for their exemplary representation in the Academic Senate. He emphasized the significance of their performance as future alumni and expressed pride in their conduct. He then introduced a unique opportunity presented by the Chancellor's Office of CSU—a one-time funding opportunity highlighted the objective of fostering working relationships between alumni and students to enhance student success, defined broadly as increasing retention rates and supporting students academically and financially. He urged the Board to brainstorm quantifiable projects that demonstrate increased engagement between alumni and students. The deadline for submitting proposals to the Chancellor's Office is March 11th, with progress reports due in November. He encouraged collaboration among board members to develop impactful initiatives that utilize the allocated funds effectively. He mentioned a project that he kicked off with fellow alumni, involving sending postcards to a group of students after their first year to assess its impact on retention rates and academic performance. He encouraged board members to contribute ideas and collaborate on projects that leverage the allocated funds to enhance student-alumni engagement and support student success. He welcomed questions from the Board. D. Lopez expressed appreciation and encouraged Board Members to share their ideas with Terry, who recently joined the team this semester. He offered to share Terry's email for members to communicate any suggestions they have regarding the discussed initiatives.
